

Mendel – club root resistant oilseed rape

Mendel has a proven track record in club root resistance. Whilst its gross output is below that of many leading varieties, Mendel offers growers the chance to secure a stable yield on club root infected ground.

Good agronomics & hybrid vigour: Mendel is stiff strawed with scores for stem stiffness and resistance to lodging of 8. As a hybrid, Mendel produces vigorous early growth and strong establishment – even where club root is an issue.
